

THERE ARE NO CASES OF CORONAVIRUS IN TRENTINO

In all the ski resorts of Trentino, there is a normal presence of Italian tourists and those from the major European countries

At present, there is no Coronavirus affected person in Trentino. The situation is constantly monitored by local health authorities, which, by adopting specific preventive steps and measures, are able to ensure health monitoring on the territory and to identify and promptly isolate possible cases of people who have been infected by the Coronavirus.

Some temporary measures which have been adopted by local authorities, such as the suspension of scheduled events and appointments and inviting people to follow proper, responsible behaviour, are therefore intended solely for preventive purposes in order to protect the well-being of residents and guests.

In this period, all Trentino tourist resorts have recorded a strong presence of guests from the main European countries, who can ski on slopes with excellent snow cover and appreciate the renowned Trentino hospitality that is guaranteed by the professionalism and commitment of all the sector operators.
